We don't hope to convince everybody by this card that we have the best business education in Washington at prices less than any competition. That takes time. But we are here to stay.

We cannot afford to misrepresent.

Sooner or later you will believe it, if you talk with some of our rupils or if you investigate our methods and facilities.

We have a thoroughly appointed first-class BUSINESS COLLEGIS.

Our pupils get correct treatment and they are made to like the college.

If you want a genuine, solid education in the practical subjects, come here.

The education is the best. The price is the low-set. Send for catalogue.

The elopement of Georgia Hoover, the pretty fourteen-year-old daughter of Heze

kiah Hoover, a prominent farmer near Laketon, Indiana, with Robert O'Hara, and the suit for the annulment of the marriage, have created much interest. The girl is quite a pretty brunette, while her husband is nearly fifty. When a child his father threw him into the fire, burning off an ear, destroying an eye and leaving a scar on his cheek. He for a year has been employed by Hoover as a farm hand. and won the favor of the family by doing the washing and sweeping. Last Wednesday he came to Wabash ostensibly to procure a license to wed a Miss Grossnickle, of North Manchester, but instead, through the washing and sweeping. Last Wednesday he came to Wabash ostensibly to procure a license to wed a Miss Grossnickle, of North Manchester, but instead, through the aid of friends, secured one to marry Miss Hoover, whose age he represented was nineteen. Friday night the girl stole away from home, met O'Hara on the road, and at North Manchester they were married by Rev. Stewart. The father of the girl, almost crazed by her disappearance, found her with O'Hara, took her from the house and hauled her home. She is much infatuated with her husband, and declares she wil, stick to him. Action was begun to annul the marriage, and the relatives of the cornet solo by Mr. Harry White.

Faithful Catholics spent yesterday visiting the various churches in the city and offering up their prayers before the consecrated host tnat was displayed upon each of the exquisitely decorated altars. The occasion was the celebration of the devotions of the Sacred Heart of Jesus, which is observed on the first Friday of May. All day the Blessed Sacrament was exposed on the altars, as it is during the forty hours devotion, and declares at St. Aloysius Church were particularly noticeable, and the interior of the edifice was beautifully decorated. Rev. Father

Rev. Percy G. Elson, the evangelist, has just closed a series of revival meetings at the Second Baptist Church. He received able assistance from the pastor. Rev. E.

At the annual business meeting of the Ninth Street Christian Church the following elders were elected to succeed themselves: Messrs. P. S. Steele and W. S. Mc-Curdy, and J. W. Van Vleck as successo to D. C. Arnold. The term of Rev Edward B. Bagby as pastor having expired on the list of last April he was unanimously reelected for another three years. The report of the treasurer showed that only $36 now remains, of what was only a short time ago a heavy load of debt. According to the secretary's statement there are now 480 names on the church membership roll.
Rev. Daniel Dulany Addiscn, rector of an Episcopal church at Beverly, Mass., is the guest of his father, Rev. Thos. G. Addison, D.D. Rev. Mr. Addison delivered the sermon at Trinity Church last Sunday.
Rev. P. S. Steele has moved out to Falls Church and is now engaged in putting the Endeavorers' Country Home for Children in a state of readiness for the reception of the little guests by the 1st of June. Already a number of applications have been received asking for accommodations, but these will have to be attended to later, as members of the Junior Christian Endeavor Union in needy circumstances will be given first choice, and then the poor of the city.
The institution is, however, intended more as a place for young convalescents who cannot afford to go away than as a place for the extremely poor.
Last Sunday the congregation of Grace Reformed Church, Rev. A. Thos. G. Apple, pastor, elected officers for the consistory as follows: Elder, Peter S. Lesh, and deacon, Lemuel F. Burner, to serve three years. The members of the consistory are also trustees.

The meeting of the executive committee of the Christian Endeavor Union Monday evening at the New York Avenue Church will be unusually important for more than one reason. The union has never possessed a set of by-laws, and for that reason a committee, composed of Messrs. W. H. H. Smith, John B. Sleman, Jr., Percy S. Foster, W. S. MacArthur and John D. Morgan, have been at work drafting some, and they will submit their report Monday. The question of who is to succeed Lendell A. Conner in the presidency will also be taken up, and already a number of eligibles have been suggested.

Some time ago Vice President Henry A. Dumont resigned because of his business not allowing him to attend meetings. The filling of this vacancy will no doubt be considered.

BOISE CITY'S SPRINGS

Hot Water Piped All Over Town Like Natural Gas.

The social center of Boise City is the Natatorium, a fine structure of rich tinted, highly polished redwood that covers a swimming pool of natural hot water tempered by a flow of cold, so that its temperature, summer and winter, is always the same It is one of the finest swimming pools I have ever seen. The dressing rooms that ous, and attached to the institution are a restaurant, a ball room, several suites of parlors and sitting rooms, handsomely fitpariors and sitting rooms, handsomely fit-ted up, a billiard room, reading room, smok-ing rooms, &c. Here people with small houses give their dinner parties, receptions and balls, here the social clubs hold their entertainments and here the women and entertainments and here the women and the men meet on common ground, as if it was a club for both genders. It is fashionable to bathe, and there is a teacher to give instructions in swimming, which furnishes wholesome exercise and is a healthful sport, particularly to those who are ailing, for the water is strongly medicinal. The odor of sulphur is apparent as soon as you enter the building. But the townspeople do not mind that; in fact, they do not notice it any more.

For many years a group of hot springs about five miles away have been visited as curiosities, and to some extent have been utilized by invalids. Fortunately, the water works company ordered an investigation of curlosities, and to some extent have been utilized by invalids. Fortunately, the water works company ordered an investigation of a marsh just outside of the city where the waters were always warm, and by drilling 404 feet into the rocks they struck a gusher that furnishes daily 1,000,000 gallons of medical water with a temperature of 180 degrees and strongly impregnated with bicarbonate of soda, chloride of sodium, silica, sulphur and other healing ingredients. This hot water is piped about the city and into the houses just as the cold water is, and the natural gas down in Ohio and Pennsylvania, and it is used not only for bathing, but for laundry and cooking and heating purposes also. Many of the best houses are entirely heated by passing it through radiating pipes, and no other hot water is used in the kitchens, except a little warmed in a kettle for washing silver. That is necessary, for the natural hot water will turn a silver spoon as black as iron. For a house of eight or ten rooms the charge for hot water is only $160 a year, which includes a sulphur-soda bath for the entire household every morning. One of the effects of the water is to remove wrinkles and restore complexions that have been impaired by age or the use of cosmetics. It makes the skin soft and smooth and rosy.

CURING CROSS EYES.

This is Now Rendily Performed by the Early Use of Glasses. From the Philadelphia Record.

Strabismus, or "cross eyes," are now safely and almost painlessly corrected. The desired result may be obtained by the wearing of proper spectacles in early youth; but if the evil is not then corrected an operation, later on, will be necessary.

The removal of a "cataract" from the The removal of a "cataract" from the eye is one of the most delicate operations performed by the oculist. A cataract is formed by the lens of the eye becoming opaque, so as to appear graylsh or otherwise, when it shuts out the light from the optic nerve. The oculist of today cuts into the ball of the eye and removes the darkened lens, and the optician supplies the defect by artificial lenses that make good the sight.

The demand for glass eyes is increasing as the character and quality of the eyes improve. Unsightly eyeballs are now removed in part, leaving enough of the muscles to rotate the glass shell that is placed over them. Where the work is properly done the possessor of the glass eye can move it about with all the naturalness of a real optic, and in many cases it is very difficult to tell the manufactured article from the genuine.

All the wild stories about substituting rabbits' eyes for human eyes, or the statements to the effect that each terments to the effect that conditions.

All the wild stories about substituting rabbits' eyes for human eyes, or the statements to the effect that oculists can take eyes from their sockets, wipe them on a coarse towel and restore them unimpaired to the happy patient, are all moonshine, and any one who is called upon to listen to any such tales is perfectly justified if, under such circumstances, he should wink the other eye.

HE WAS MAD. This Sparrow Thought a Joke Was Being Played Upon Him.

"You never saw such a mad sparrow in your life as the one I saw today," said Van Tope. "This sparrow was building a on the pavement, where he found what he probably supposed was a beautiful, straight piece of straw. It happened to be a string, however, and the other end of t was caught on a nail in the box. "But the sparrow wist not that it was so, and he grabbed the end of the string and started gally away. Of course he soon brought up with a round turn, as the sail-ors say, and found the piece of string jerked away from him. He lit on the ground and then looked around to see what impudent and envious sparrow had tackled him for his string. He looked as though he was ready to lick any sparrow in that for his string. He looked as though he was ready to lick any sparrow in that block who should set claim to his string. After standing around as if daring the other fellow to knock a chip off his shoulder, and the other fellow not showing up, he grabbed his string and started off. Again he was yanked back by the string and when he lit he fairly danced around in his wrath. You could just imagine him calling that other sparrow all sorts of names. He hopped around the goods box to find him and lit on the edge to peep in. After waiting a reasonable length of time for his tormentor he started off again and again was thrown down.

"This seemed to get te him. He was dead sure some other sparrow was putting up a game on him, and you could imagine him saying that he did not care so much for the dod-rotted string, but that he hated to be fooled with in this way by some young bantling of this year's hatch. Then an idea struck him. He flew off and got Mrs. Sparrow. He told her about the matter, and, after giving her instructions from a neighboring tree, he posted himself on a limb just above the box, and sent Mrs. Sparrow to dally with the string. You could see he wanted the teaser to play his pranks on the old lady, he would be watching him and then would swoop down and just thump the feathers off of that sparrow. I could see him chuckling at the thought of the fun he would have.

"The old lady started away with the string, and she, too, was yanked back. Mr. Sparrow was keeping an eye upon her, and when he failed to see the mysterious tormentor appear he was obviously very much surprised. He got down and walk-

Easter Monday night the citizens tendered the bishop a reception at Epworth Hall, at which addresses were made by W. M. Day, president of the chamber of commerce, and other well-known men.

Wednesday, the 24th, a joint reception of Fletcher and Gorsuch churches took place in the former edifice. There were choir and congregational singing, recitations and readings, and addresses by Revs. C. O. Cook and C. W. Baldwin.

"Finally, Mrs. Sparrow, with female tact, came to the rescue and said that after all she did not believe that was a good string for their business and they did not want the thing, anyhow. Mr. Sparrow agreed with her and said he believed at first the blamed thing wasn't any good, but be thought he would take it home for her to see, anyhow. And with that they fiew away. It's my opinion there are lots bigger fools in the world than sparrows."
